What is included?

- Thorough flight planning and guide services
- National Parks-focused destinations
- Ground transportation and scheduled activities included
- National Park entrance fees included
- Detailed Pilot Pack included
- The tour size will be limited to 10 aircraft (including guides)
- Trip will be led by Collin and Marisa Fay

What is new?

- We are beginning this tour in Rapid City, SD to take advantage of visiting Mt. Rushmore National Park and the surrounding Black Hills region
- No tie-down or ramp fees will be included in the tour price
- Renting pilots must come early to Grand Junction in order to complete the relevant flight checkouts at their expense. The GJT-based aircraft will leave for Rapid City early on June 30th
- Very few meals are included as part of the tour to allow for more leisure time
- The tour will officially end at Winthrop, WA, allowing for non-renting pilots to depart for home without an interim stop back in Grand Junction. Pilots renting aircraft from Parkwest/Colorado Flight Center will return to Grand Junction at their discretion and expense

- Due to the international flights between the United States and Canada, there may be additional requirements and expenses for renting pilots and their aircraft. Please contact Parkwest for details. Passports required for all US citizens; foreign pilots should verify Canadian visa requirements.

Airworthiness:

Parkwest Air Tours, Inc. packages and guides tours for pilots flying owned or leased aircraft. It is the responsibility of the Client/Pilot, acting in his or her capacity as Pilot-In-Command (PIC), to determine the airworthiness of the aircraft being flown.

Navigation:

For the purpose of navigational assistance on its tours, Parkwest Air Tours requires that each Client/Pilot have a pre-programmed GPS receiver in their aircraft for use on the tour. If the Client/Pilot does not have a GPS receiver in his/her aircraft, Parkwest Air Tours will provide a rental unit at the cost of $10/day. Each Client/Pilot will be supplied with a pre-planned route of flight, suggested altitudes, and a GPS coordinates for programming the Client/Pilot's GPS unit. The Client/Pilot, as Pilot-In-Command, agrees that these tools are for his/her navigational assistance only, and at no time should be considered reliable or obligatory in any way. Each Client/Pilot is encouraged to verify any information provided by Parkwest in terms of aircraft navigation, airspace rules, aircraft performance, and airport information.

Mechanical Difficulties:

Parkwest Air Tours, Inc. can make no refunds due to delays or problems resulting from mechanical or other problems with Client/Pilot aircraft. It is the responsibility of the Client/Pilot to determine any problems or potential problems with his/her aircraft, and to determine the appropriate measures required to resolve them. Also, each Client/Pilot should familiarize himself with the airports and maintenance facilities along the tour route in the event aircraft maintenance is required during the tour. It will be the responsibility of the Client/Pilot to rejoin the group when possible. Any extraneous expenses related to a maintenance delay (food, hotel, etc.) will be the responsibility of the Client/Pilot. Because all of Parkwest Air Tours' services are prepaid, no refunds for unused hotel rooms, meals, or activities can be made.

Rules and Regulations:

The Client/Pilot accepts the following rules and regulations that are made to safeguard him or her, passengers, and the aircraft. Client/Pilot agrees:

1. To inform him/herself about the tour, airspace, and airports involved in the tour, and to attend the Parkwest pre-tour briefing in Rapid City and each and every pre-flight meeting while on the tour.
2. To not operate his or her aircraft if impaired from illness, drugs or alcohol.
3. To personally check the general airworthiness of his or her aircraft and the proper operation of all its related accessories, and to personally check that the fuel tanks contain sufficient fuel for the contemplated flight, that the oil is at the proper level, and that the caps on the fuel and oil tanks are secure.
4. To operate the aircraft in strict compliance with all applicable rules and regulations of the Federal Aviation Administration.
5. To obtain weather reports and forecasts immediately before each flight, and to not fly when ceilings or visibility are forecast to go below VFR minimums or when surface winds or gusts are excessive, and, in no case, to exceed his or her piloting experience and ability.
6. To personally see that the aircraft is properly and securely tied down at all times when the aircraft is not in flight.
7. To notify Parkwest Air Tours, Inc. of any malfunction of the aircraft, engine, instruments, or equipment.
8. Except when necessary for landings and take-offs, to not fly the aircraft at an altitude of less than 500 feet AGL nor below the minimum safe altitude of flight prescribed by the Federal Aviation Administration.

I certify that:

- A. All statements made by me on this agreement are true and correct,
- B. All pilot and medical certificates presented by me in connection with this agreement are valid and belong to me, and
- C. I will never participate or pay for a tour provided by Parkwest Air Tours, Inc. under any pilot or medical certificate that is in a revoked, suspended, or expired status.
